Subject: Re: Change row appearance based on column value in that row
Posted by slashupp on Fri, 01 Sep 2017 09:20:44 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Revisiting this because I previously could not understand this AddIndex()-stuff.
(I used my work-around as described to achieve what I needed to)

I still cannot make any sense from this at all.

I now want to add a key to each row so that I can identify the specific entry when selected/clicked with the real data in another container using this key.

I can find no way to add/associate a row-level key !?!?
no straightforward, intuitive way

any advice?