Subject: Re: ArrayCtrl in Windows 10
Posted by pvictor on Wed, 24 Jan 2018 04:12:04 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yes, there are a lot of applications with similar array headers. But all of them scroll by rows - you'll never see a picture like this:

When there are many ArrayCtrls in an application, the above behavior makes it look unprofessional and "cuts the eye".
As for me, commenting that line in source code makes me happy - my applications (in which arrays are central elements) look much better than before.

File Attachments

1) 2.png, downloaded 1301 times

