Subject: Re: ArrayCtrl in Windows 10
Posted by mirek on Sat, 14 Apr 2018 06:31:42 GMT

koldo wrote on Sat, 14 April 2018 00:19:)

Yes, but that is painted by application, ignoring host os rules....

Chameleon, by default, is attempting to use what host OS defines as standard look. There OS API functions that provide this and we are using them. That the standard look is not great and that M$ ignores its own rules is another matter...