
Subject: Re: Change output directory

Posted by mirek on Tue, 19 Jun 2018 14:19:52 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

There are two directories:

- directory where all files produced during build are stored (like .obj and .lib)
 - you can that by doubleclicking on corresponding Assembly after you start the ide
 - directory where output .exe is stored. If this is not defined, it is stored to some subdirectory above.
 - You can change that in Build / Output mode... "target file override" (separately for Debug and Release)
-