So yes, I am willing to look into creating a new ppa for ubuntu packages.
I need to do this for my own projects anyway.
I figured out how to create a repository on my own webspace for my stuff. That is working. I didn't consider launchpad for that as they won't allow closed source projects.
Setting up a upp repository on my own space could be quickly arranged.
Launchpad would need more investigation. Helpful suggestions are welcome.
