some things I find hindering in the ide/editor:

 - wordwrap comments - this should be default OFF, and to be enabled by user's choice

 - wordwrapping code-lines - (a new thing) same as above, this is especially irritating because it breaks my concentration since I have to hunt for my code that disappeared from where I was typing, and I cannot find where to turn this OFF

 - navigator - same; the editor expands to the right and the navigator should not be there by default, this is a user-choice to be OFF by default

 - rescan file while editing - suggest a tool-button for this because lately there is a lag, half-a-sec to a sec, between typing and the character appearing on-screen because of rescanning being busy

What do you think, can/should this be changed?
(or should I just shut-up & be happy for getting a free tool?)
