Hello,

I'm observing a strange behaviour. Before 608-dev2 each time I touched a ctrl on the layout file of designer all the package was compiled entirely. Now this doesn't happen. Not only, but the modification I do in the layout have no effect after the compilation (really no compilation because only the linking procedure is performed). It is like is I've not modified the layout or the save procedure of layout is not really done.

I tried to recompile the whole package and the whole library but nothing change. Am I the only who has this problem?

Luigi

EDIT: the modified layout file is saved but the package is not aware of it.
