> They are not supposed to. That option is just 'experimental'.
Oops, it is the blocker.

Please, see the attached bm file. All SDKs have been set by corresponding versions of MS Visual studio -- I have never set up them separately. I have the following:
<DIR>   10.0.14393.0
<DIR>   10.0.16299.0
<DIR>   10.0.17134.0
<DIR>   10.0.17763.0

I am not sure my bm file is complete -- I have being trying to build shared version only.
So, it would be nice if U++ could switch between SDKs just pointing out the root SDK's directory.

File Attachments
1) MSVC.bm, downloaded 349 times