Hi all-

We think we solved the libpqxx issue. I am talking on GitHub and it might be related to -lws2_32. I will see if I can find that the package that contains that file and execute a special install instruction.

I am also wondering if when I build both static and dynamic libraries it might cause U++ to be confused. I am going to try to do static only install with mingw if it will let me with postgres.

Have to go get some sleep. I am at gmt -4 and work is coming fast tomorrow.

Thnx roboloki
