Hello,

Quote:

Code reviews are always hard, but I am not sure that going GIT would make them significantly easier. Besides, I believe you can do pull requests against mirror.

Would the pull request made into mirror will be back-propagated to SVN?

As for going GIT for core sources, I am very cautious. But you can perhaps try with bazaar first.

I am not sure how we can do it partially. Do you have some ideas to share?

svn://www.ultimatepp.org/upp/branches/gtk3 - is the good example why branching with SVN is expensive ;)

Sincerely,
Klugier
