"(It weights around 710 Mb which is quite huge number)"

Oh, you are not Android developer, are you? :d

Then it makes some sense, sometimes I forget how numb I've become to the file sizes since pretty much every work project on my disk is 200MB-1.5GB, and Android SDK is 50GB, so ~1GB for full framework seems to me very reasonable, and my computer can cope with it nicely, as it must cope with lot more bullshit daily. ;)

But yeah, now I see it may be somewhat "big" for people not having to deal with the stuff like me... and not having android-dev grade HW, but just some regular powerful PC. Then it may be a bit of struggle I guess.
