Klugier wrote on Sat, 16 November 2019 16:03How often will the git repository be with sync with SVN?

Currently cronjob runs each 5 minutes (usually does nothing). I could probably make it run on svn commit, but IMO not worth the complication.

I think, we can test the synchronization by simply modify README.md (I wanted to modify it 2 years ago with several attempts without success to this day ;)). Please let me know when the synchronization will be enable, so I will create first exemplary pull request.

Sure, let us try.
