Hello Klugier

I think what you're saying might cause some misunderstanding: AFAIK
<https://github.com/ultimatepp> is not the official U++ repository, but the official U++ mirror in GitHub

Otherwise a few more things would have to be modified.

I mean, it is great to be in GitHub since it's really trendy now, but in this case we should ask ourselves how to work from now on. The GitHub workflow offers several features, but many of them might not be very efficient in our project.
