However, when jumping to a file which is not part of a package (let's say c:\upp\upp\bin\clang\include\sal.h) and try to copy position, the copy position don't work (my clipboard remain the same as before the copy position).
It would be good to copy filename and position when TheIDE don't know from what package this file come from

I can do that, but it will just work with Copy position, not Alt+Y. Do we want to go there?
