Problem with branch is now fixed.

I have improved hidden url settings:

These are now activated by F12 or by activating verbose mode. They allow to override the url of upphub list, even allowing to set it to file. In practice, it means you can clone UppHub repo, test the list changes and then push tested list.