Hello Pradip,

Well I forgot about the Sort() part (it was added in 2014: I just checked) :blush:
Like you proposed, I will replace with StableSort, this is will make things predictable.

If you want to change the drawing order, you can just adjust the stacking priority so that X and Y grid don't have the same priority anymore and fit you're needs (But you probably already figured that out ;)

By default there are free values between the default GraphElements stacking priority: this is intentional so that local adjustments can be done without having to modify everything
