Subject: A Bug? that deleted my project

Hi,

I was working on a small project all day and now every thing is gone!

last thing I did was checking the log file with Alt+L and closed it then Ctrl+F5 to Execute, suddenly all tabs disappeared and only an empty file with a path to the package folder remained.
I opened MyApps folder looking for my project and all what's left is the package folder, all the files got permanently deleted, and unrecoverable since TheIde deleted everything then recreated an empty folder with the same package name.

I encountered a similar problem once in an older build, but no files where deleted, i just emptied CFG folder and TheIde opened the package normally. but this time the package files were deleted.

I think what happened has something to do with this bug:
