should go into plugin or core packages, since they are fundamentals.
Serial code won't change in the future, and probably neither PortAudio, so maintaining code is not an issue, copy/paste packages to core would be fine.

I am not fundamentally opposed to this.

If one is eager for upphub thing, then one could probably create converter from bazaar to upphub, and mark/review packages as fullyFuncional or unmaintained, etc.

This would be a mistake.
