There is no chameleon docs because the whole interface is still in development...

Anyway, I think once "Human" is finished, it will serve as an example well to provide other themes.

Good to hear

Another aspect of theming are the icons.

Any plans to create sets for Gnome and KDE?

I thought for a while about automating the task by writing a script, that converts icons from /usr/share/icons for upp purposes.

I'm not sure though, if that is so trivial as it sounds.

Probably I need to write a little upp utility, that does the image conversion itself, or could imagemagick do that?
