Subject: strcmp() works with String?
Posted by forlano on Tue, 24 Oct 2006 08:48:30 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hello,

yesterday I noticed in my code several instructions:
String s1, s2;
strcmp(s1, s2);

I used it when I ported in U++ the old C code and was unaware of the method CompareNoCase(). The question is: strcmp() maybe armful with String? Are there case in which the operation can produce the crash? Anyway I'm going to substitute it.

Luigi