I have the same problem.

e.g. I have built the Boost libraries and would like to include one of them in a project and also include the header files which are located e.g. c:\boost\libs

I just add the c:\boost\libs\foolib\boost_foolib_static.lib in package manager?

And what about the header files? How can I specify additional include directories?