That's the toughest part. No easy pattern can be spotted that leads to a freeze. Sometimes it goes like many hours and mutiple suspension & resume without a problem. Sometimes it happens quite often like a few times in half an hour's frame.

Moving around, minimizing & maximizing definitely have no problems at all. If I must point something out, it possibly has a positive correlation with moving windows between minitors, switching to other window and leave theide in the background. But really, I am not sure.
