Will be multiline cursor (something like on the image below)
ever be implemented in TheIDE?

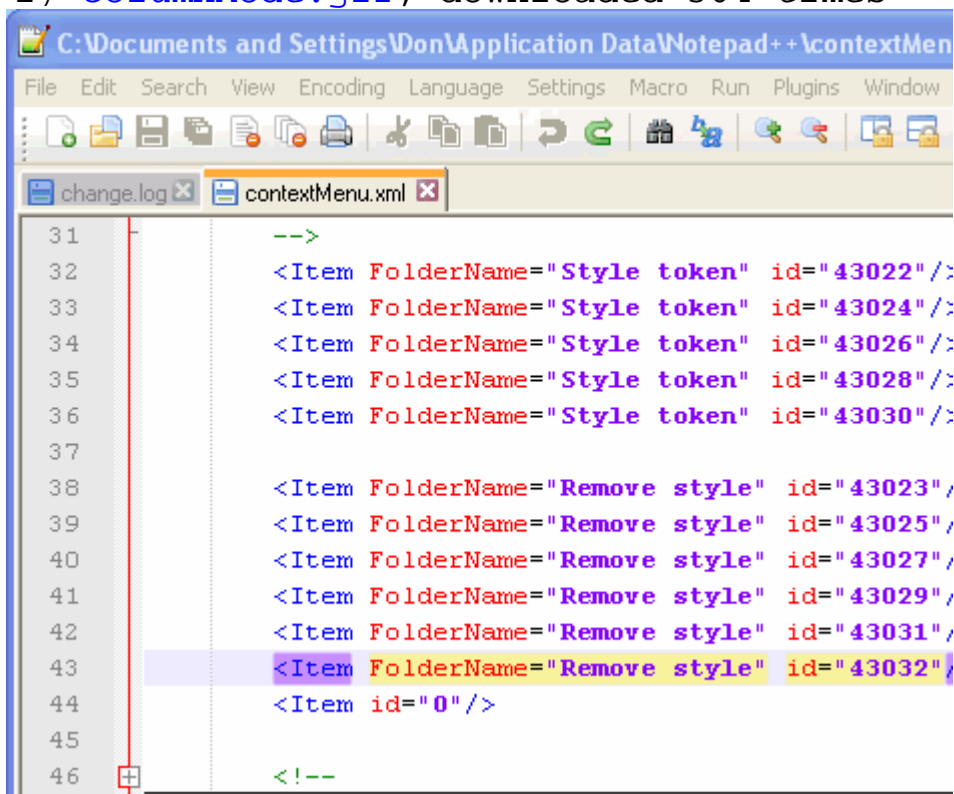

I quickly googled an informational image and found this Notepad++ column mode one:

I just need to extend the cursor to multiple lines and then type a text to all those lines at once....

The screenshot shows the Notepad++ application window with the file `contextMenu.xml` open. The text is displayed in column mode, with a vertical red cursor line positioned at the start of line 43. The code content is as follows:

31      -->
32      <Item FolderName="Style token" id="43022" />
33      <Item FolderName="Style token" id="43024" />
34      <Item FolderName="Style token" id="43026" />
35      <Item FolderName="Style token" id="43028" />
36      <Item FolderName="Style token" id="43030" />
37
38      <Item FolderName="Remove style" id="43023",
39      <Item FolderName="Remove style" id="43025",
40      <Item FolderName="Remove style" id="43027",
41      <Item FolderName="Remove style" id="43029",
42      <Item FolderName="Remove style" id="43031",
43      <Item FolderName="Remove style" id="43032" />
