Subject: macOS 27 and support for chip Intel
Posted by forlano on Mon, 15 Jun 2026 07:21:59 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hello,

Apple has just released the first beta of macOS 27 Golden Gate to developers.
It only runs on Silicon Macs with M series chips but still supports Intel applications.
macOS 27 should be released to the public around September 2026.
However it will be the last version to support Intel applications.

How is currently compiled theide?

I am using it on chip Intel.

Best regards,
Luigi