Getting money is good thing.
How about do feature's based donation, may be sound silly.
My idea is, you have a list of features and ask the community which feature that they wish to come true, by putting some donation for certain period. Then we can start with feature with highest donation.

For example,
For januari 2007 we will have these features:
a. feature a
b. feature b
c. feature c

You can ask people to donate for the feature they like to be included in next release.

That's all
