Hello,

please let me ask you to consider the following rearrangement of the menu of theide:

- move "Execute" from "Debug" to "Build";

- rename "Build method" in Setup as "Compiler setting" or similar (there are too many "build" around) and move it in "Build" panel. Moreover in "Build Method" the labelboxes "Debug mode defaults" and "Release mode defaults" with all their content should be removed. They seems a unnecessary duplicate of that present in "Output mode"... but perhaps I'm overlooking their real purpose.

Thank you,
Luigi
