Assist++ is a GREAT help for me as a beginner, and I think, that by using doxy style docs, Assist++ could even display the /brief of the given function/class, while moving through the available selections. That would be a mighty fine thing! I haven't seen this anywhere yet!

Well, that is what I mean by better Assist++ / Topic++ integration.

BTW, first signs of this comming are already there: if you perform a Query (to get results in lower paint), right click on the results also lists Topic++ themes related to the item.
