Noob alert.

Anyway, can someone tell me how to view my console output (eg. `cout << x`) while debugging? When I execute my compiled program I can see the standard output just fine. I think there must be a window in Thelde that allows me to see what I'm printing to standard output. I've been clicking for a few hours now so any help is greatly appreciated. I'm running Suse 10.1 with the latest ultimate++ as of posting.

Thanks

Patrick
