Some of them in fact belong to srcdoc ("src" should be just items related and linked to code, "srcdoc" should contain other code-related documents). Topics like "NTL overview" should be in srcdoc.

Now of course I am not sure whether that is my mistake.

...oops, it might even be some obscure uvs2 bug. E.g. topic "Overview$en-us" was removed from the tree on 6/2005 (it was moved to srcdoc as "NTL$en-us"). Did it happen that the file was downloaded to your Core/src.tpp anyway? (I guess, it must have been the latest version...)
