Yup, just got back to my office(was traveling) and had some time to play with it. I am able to compile new versions of the ide with the ide.

I am trying to compile some previous packages I wrote, but it seems unable to find uppsrc. Hopefully I can get that solved tonight.

I have discovered that setting 'static' will not compile correctly. But I am able to compile using 'shared'.

What flags are you setting to compile universal binaries?
