Wow, thank you, it seems we made some progress. Year ago, "lack of documentation" was mentioned as major drawback of U++

About most other points, you are mostly right. But our resources are somewhat limited. E.g. right now, I do not quite like U++ front page (or wikipedia article about U++, which is BTW the main place where people are coming from....), but we have nothing better...

(Besides, optimizing Core and writing the new code is so much more fun
