Yes, that is what I thought, but I am not quite able to fix the problem

 It does not read (because it is not there?) the /etc/fonts.conf. Don't do not forget to install the X11 Application from CD1 on OsX, it is optional. I believe it also has a patch, so run Software Updater.

X11 installed... I have also installed some ports, including xft (most likely not quite necessarry), but still stuck at that Bus error.

However, /etc/fonts.conf does not sound familiar; I have /etc/fonts/fonts.conf? (Have to check...)

I can show the settings I use if it helps.

Would be nice. At the moment, I quite confused with all that Mac thing

I can do a new .dmg too, I've been waiting for final version, but if you prefer rc5, I have the exe just sitting here.

That is OK, once I have TheIDE capable of compiling, future is bright
