I was thinking about it too... But somebody would have to take care about it.

Or you can keep a list of patches in an auxiliary directory that are numbered (01_SizeGrip.patch 02_Im_getting_a_clue.patch 03_now_a_life.patch ...). That way you do not have to keep/track separate release branches.

Anyway, as soon as upp finishes building I will post the gentoo portage ebuild to sourceforge (with version upp-2007.1-r1 including the above patch; not that I or anyone else cares)
