It's also easy on this forum. Click "navigation" and you can select to see recent posts from the last xx hours or xx days

Oh, that is nice. I like it.

You know, I now realize that it is hard to read text against the darker background, especially up in the purple background (that is probably why I didn't notice some of the nice browsing features).

I personally like the light colored color scheme of the homepage:

<http://upp.sourceforge.net/index.html>

On the left pane, the blue backgrounds on main categories with white text, and white text on grey buttons looks very appealing to me. Easy to see.
