I appologize for taking a short vacation from direct involvement with U++ development. The reason was that I decided to have a little fun and remake my own 30 years old game:

As you can see, this ends in July:)

I just played it, and after looking at wiki/youtube to know more about the original game, I just realized you where also the creator of the original game too ! (At the same time it is marked on your post too but I had not seen)

It's impressive, it must have been jubilant to program and see people where liking your game !
