Hi guys!

It has been a long time since I posted here. I'm back! :p

I have a quick question (not related to programming):

Does anyone here have experience with installing Ubuntu on a notebook that came with Windows 10 and a recovery partition?

I want to install Ubuntu, but I don't want to lose the Windows 10 partition and I also want to keep the recovery partition fully working.

Did anyone here try that?

Can I just resize the Windows 10 partition, install Ubuntu there and expect it to work?
