Frankly, Turtle was an experiment in search for application. I am afraid that I am not at this time able to keep it updated but I would be happy to give write rights to it for somebody else to maintain it:)

I've noticed some problems with the Turtle package:

If I remember correctly, Turtle is spinning in a loop checking for a socket connection without any timeout. IMHO, the problem can be fixed by just adding a timeout.

I'd love to see Turtle fixed although it is not my highest priority ...
