Hi,

The latest builds of TheIDE (13393, 13402, 13419) don't start on my Windows 10.
After choosing the main package, they close the window without any message.
Since no one complains, I think that it's my problem, however, build 13389 and all previous work OK.

An application error appears with no useful information.
Maybe, the line:

will help.

Any suggestions?

Thanks,
Victor

Yes, I can confirm that in W10, theide.exe, as downloaded from here, crashes after choosing which package to open.
However, when compiled from sources with VS 2017 x64, there is no problem.

Comparing theide.exe size:

- From sources: 10943 Kb
- Downloaded: 13799 Kb

Fixed in trunk. Very stupid bug...

Hello Mirek,

The crash is no longer observer - thanks for fixing this issue. Tomorrows nightly (21.06.2019) should not be affected by this bug and TheIDE should be stable as before.

Sincerely,
Klugier

Probably not. This is period of significant changes in the Core, so instability of trunk is more likely than usual...
