Hello Mirek,

The "More" button isn't correctly aligned on GNOME/Linux.

Best regards,
Oblivion

How about changing the header in the readme view to something like below?

Colors, style, etc. can be later modified, but IMO this looks better than the existing header.

Best regards,

Maybe. The idea was to conserve vertical space so that more of readme is visible.

Some more features added to "More.." button (also duplicated in list's local menu):

- open folder, terminal of folder, copy folder path (both for module and whole UppHub)
 - repo sync
 - reinstall / delete everything

Hello Mirek,

In addition to what we have can you add install under right click. I know that it is possible by double click, but additional option won't hurt. The same is true for uninstall/remove option.
