Few questions
1. When will U++ website be updated with latest release?

2. When will Linux build for 607-dev1 be released?

"dev" releases are not announced on website - they are weekly snapshots of current development status.

Also, "dev" releases are Win binaries only - Linux testers are expected to use previous version to build sources.

I expect to have next "big" release somewhere around 11/2006.

I am sorry, there is not enough time to keep website updated more often (e.g. to track week-to-week development).
