here is my simple tool strip. It's basically like toolbar, contains multi ctrls, and if there's no enough room, an overflow button is showed. the tool strip can be horizental or vertical. hope this will be useful for somebody.

Hello,

You actually didn't show anything ;) I see very nice control, but where is the source code. You can also consider publishing your control via UppHub, so more people can use it and contribute to your project.

Sorry about that, the forum restrict me only one file can be uploaded. I put the source code here. the code is not fully tested and documented, so it's not a good time to put it to UppHub.
