I'm trying to write a program that sends mail, but the SMTP example doesn't work. Does anyone have a working example application? Thank you very much in advance.

It is probably authentication problem - that example works in general, worked for gmail like 12 years ago, but gmail security hardened since.

You need some additional steps in google to make it work,

Thank you very much.

You helped me a lot. I already know where to look for a solution to the problem.

Best regards,
