
Subject: Forum migrated

Posted by mirek on Sun, 10 Dec 2006 08:27:30 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

After a couple of days trying, I have hopefully moved the forum to the new webhosting (perhaps I will tell you the sad story of trying later

There was a lot of problems on the way so it is very likely that some things will not work (I did mistake of using newer forum version, which resulted in broken data model after import - I am fixing problems on the way, adding columns based on SQL errors
- therefore please apologize any troubles and report them.

Mirek

Subject: Re: Forum migrated

Posted by Werner on Sun, 10 Dec 2006 09:00:34 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Seems to work. Congratulations!

"Yesterday's messages" has gone.

Werner

Subject: Re: Forum migrated

Posted by mirek on Sun, 10 Dec 2006 09:22:18 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Sorry, I will fix these issues ASAP.

Mirek

Subject: Re: Forum migrated

Posted by Werner on Sun, 10 Dec 2006 09:33:29 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The e-mail notification no longer contains the text of the triggering message itself.

Werner

Subject: Re: Forum migrated
Posted by Werner on Sun, 10 Dec 2006 09:38:06 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

And what about switching from EST to UTC (or any European time zone) on this occasion?

Werner
