Subject: Forum name "Developing the Ultimate++"
Posted by Werner on Mon, 01 Jan 2007 17:31:22 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

As "Ultimate++" is a name, I would really suggest to rename the forum "Developing the Ultimate++" "Developing Ultimate++" (unless a native English speaker knows better).

Werner

Subject: Re: Forum name "Developing the Ultimate++"
Posted by Osiris on Thu, 15 Mar 2007 13:29:58 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

"The Ultimate Development"

The development of an idea, a community, and the future of the process of development itself. This is the rudementary philos behind U++ as being self-describing and perpetually self-sustaining.

The above title drags the community into the fray as being directly "Ultimate" as well. From what I have already witnessed this is not far from the truth at all. My impression is very relaxed and involved here with you all.

U++ technology, the direct developers, and the community seem to spend a great deal of time around dev; in contrast I have seen other dev forums and communities swallowed up in a torrent of bug reporting.

In closing I think that my title suggestion really underscores the whole process behind U++, TheIde, the tech dev gurus and the community here.

Subject: Re: Forum name "Developing the Ultimate++"
Posted by exolon on Fri, 16 Mar 2007 11:04:32 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Osiris wrote on Thu, 15 March 2007 13:29U++ technology, the direct developers, and the community seem to spend a great deal of time around dev; in contrast I have seen other dev forums and communities swallowed up in a torrent of bug reporting.
To be fair, it's a relatively small community, compared to huge GUI frameworks with massive userbases constantly running into issues. Plus it's well-designed