Subject: Modal window loops....

I appears that U++ modal loop handling was not perfect when application has more main windows (e.g. UWord).

This is now fixed this way:

- if modal window opens, all other modal windows (but not main windows) are disabled (this is BTW consistent with OpenOffice behaviour; Word seems to disable every window no matter it is modal or modeless) and all owned windows.

- FileSel now has AppModal flag, which is ON by default (because too often we are using single FileSel instance for all main windows).

- Printing dialog (Win32 based) is now also application modal
