Hello,

just don't exactly know where to deposit translation files for homebudget.

I added the german translation to:
Quote:HomeBudget.t
GridCtrl.t
CtrlCore.t

Don't know if I should also post the cpp and lay file since there has to be done adding the new language and changing the layout to display the text properly, since it's cut off.

Bye
Heli

I have also translated HomeBudget to German language since it was not updated either in UVS or in SVN.

I have also translated the About dialog and changed the layout slightly in order to make room for more characters.
My changes are attached including the whole directory with a diff file and also a bug log from running the app.

The first three lines where added to the bug log as I was entering the second expenses template line within a newly created category.
The rest where added to bug log as I added a line to expenses.

Matthias
