Subject: An administrative console Part II...
Posted by tvanriper on Mon, 08 Oct 2007 17:17:48 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Once you log in, you see this tab. Three of the edit boxes are actually buttons that pull up plain dialogs for changing those settings. The others are strictly read-only (and disabled). For folks not adventurous enough to click on random parts of a dialog, we also provided an Edit menu item that duplicates the buttons' effect.

We originally tried multiple tabs, but hated it. We generally think multiple layers of tabs is confusing and ugly, so we opted to have a single line of tabs instead. Problem is, it created an awful lot of tabs, which is also confusing.

So, we decided to let you select which tabs to show.