Subject: Report printing bug
Posted by indiocolifa on Thu, 24 Apr 2008 18:50:38 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I think this is a bug:

Create a report, press "PRINT", select a disconnected network printer or not-ready printer, press "Print" on the Windows printing dialog, you'll get EXCEPTION_ACCESS_VIOLATION.

Please somebody with access to a network or local offline printer, try it.

Thanks!

Subject: Re: Report printing bug
Posted by mirek on Fri, 25 Apr 2008 08:33:02 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Unable to reproduce (and yes, I have networked printer and I have disconnected it for this to test).

This might depend on many details. If you are able to crash it, I suggest compiling with MSC and test in debugger -> that way you will perhaps able to find out what causes the crash.

Mirek

Subject: Re: Report printing bug
Posted by indiocolifa on Fri, 25 Apr 2008 16:09:09 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

luzr wrote on Fri, 25 April 2008 05:33Unable to reproduce (and yes, I have networked printer and I have disconnected it for this to test).

This might depend on many details. If you are able to crash it, I suggest compiling with MSC and test in debugger -> that way you will perhaps able to find out what causes the crash.

Mirek

Hey Mirek, don't care, I tried today many times and I could not reproduce the exception. The only thing I remember the exception was with a Metafile DLL, but who knows.

Well If I get some problem again I'll report.

Thank you.