So, we now have svn repository.

I have sent the initial info to "core" developers for now. If I have forgot something, please PM me.

Mirek, do you mirror the new repo to SF, now?
If so, how often is it updated?
Or how can users (using UVS before) access the new SVN repo?

Well, this one is still "under development".

I want to use svnsync to mirror svn, but that is impossible with sf.net. But it seems like GoogleCode provides the option.

So, in the end, maybe the svn will be mirrored on GoogleCode. Unfortunately, my first attempt to sync ended with weird problem. I am now trying to discuss the issue in the GoogleCode forum.
