HI,

I just setup a PC to run Vista 64 so I can try compiling and running 64 bit executables. I installed the MSC9x64 and it was picked up by the UPP install but when I go to compile I get a whole bunch of errors. It compiles MSC9 just fine but that's not what this PC was for.

Anyone had this?

Nick

ok I really need to be able to compile in 64 bit windows.

I get the following errors:

and so on. Is this a problem with my configuration or is it that no-one has tested with Vista 64? Mirek, Tomas, if you don't have this OS and you want to test, I'll be happy to give you remote access to this machine as its just for testing these days. Email me and I'll send you login details.

It was tested and it works.

The log indicates that the problem is in path to the compiler.

cl.exe is not found.

Make sure that in build methods, there is PATH to the compiler.

Of course, we can try remote access as well ok so I directed it to the cl.exe that is in the Program Files (x86) directory as that is the only cl.exe on my PC and now it compiles but it wont build.

I have to say I'm completely confused by the mixture of paths in the build methods for both the 32 bit and 64 bit compilations.

I just went with all the defaults. Can you show me what your MSC9 x64 paths look like please?

Ok I got it working although I had to edit the function Round() from Daniel's GridCtrl code as __asm is not supported it seems in 64 bit.

I will post my paths so that others can refer to this.

PATH executable directories:
C:\Program Files (x86)\Microsoft Visual Studio 9.0\Common7\Ide
C:\Program Files (x86)\Microsoft Visual Studio 9.0\VC\bin\amd64
C:\Program Files\Microsoft SDKs\Windows\v6.1\Bin

INCLUDE directories:
C:\Program Files (x86)\Microsoft Visual Studio 9.0\Vc\Include
C:\Program Files\Microsoft SDKs\Windows\v6.1\Include

LIB directories:
C:\Program Files (x86)\Microsoft Visual Studio 9.0\Vc\Lib\x64
C:\Program Files\Microsoft SDKs\Windows\v6.1\Lib\x64
C:\Program Files (x86)\Microsoft Visual Studio 9.0\VC\lib\amd64

I tried to build for x64 under XP Pro 32bit but for some reason I couldn't find all the necessary files. As you need Vista64 to test anyway then it probably doesn't matter.

Nick

p.s. I loaded the most ridiculous file I could find and now openwind.exe is sitting with memory usage at around 6GB
